UNIVERSAL LAW OF ONE

This simple project is reminding people that as humans, we are the Guardians of our BLUE GREEN PLANET and that we are now becoming aware of our own innate Healing Powers. By tuning into the source via earth energies, love, natural cycles and a sacred diet of food, water and music, this awesome power will return to your own HEART and HANDS.

Use your power for the HIGHER Good of All - NOW.

Create the new reality, the new Jerusalem, now.

The truth about our new super children is that they might grow graceful, humble and when they do. The muscles are relaxed, the heart open and the breath slow. They are the peaceful warriors of the light you are.

Enlightenment is a new wave of consciousness shining up from the heart.

The time to make our dreams a reality.

The time to change the world into a kingdom.

This time is now my brothers and sisters!

The call is to break free of the illusion of mind and to take our place in the Planetary Galactic Galactic Universal Heart Chakra of Avalon.

The Zodiac, 13 miles across, is guarded by the Glastonbury Star Temple. They encircled the site with the landscape that has been hidden from much of humanity for centuries. Only since the 90's has the site been explored. This cosmic play of the zodiac with the heavens is coming in a climate change.

As humans we are reflected in all that is around us. The star temple has now come back into our awareness as a reason. It's scale and design reflect our place in evolution as we prepare for 2140.

The Zodiac is laid out in reverse (comparable to the heavenly zodiac), this implies that it is reflecting the progression of the ages (Pisces to Aquarius etc.). Is this huge calendar charting our evolution?

Now that we are entering the Aquarian Age, is it any coincidence that Glastonbury has much of the town sits on the sign of Aquarius on the Zodiac? And why did Joseph of Arimathea plant his sapling on Wyanagh hill at the beginning of the Hekaton era? Did he know that Wyanagh Hill is part of Pisces in the Zodiac? Was he marking the birthplace for the Aquarian Age?

Arthurian myths and even Egyptian symbology are part of the secret, all encoded into the landscape.

The sun is about to move through the signs of Pisces to Aquarius, and this is another avenue of progress for the ages (Pisces to Aquarius etc.). Is this huge calendar charting our evolution?

The signs of Cancer the ship and Taurus (head & foot only) were similar to the ancient Egyptian zodiac. The sign of Cancer the ship is waiting to carry the Christ to the heavens.

The sign of Taurus is a literal interpretation of the book of Revelation. The Zodiac, 13 miles across, is guarded by the Girl Dog of Langport (Sirius - Dog Star.). A window in Langport church shows Joseph of Arimathea arriving holding the crutches (blood and sweat of Jesus); symbolising the arrival in Britain of the Sacred Bloodline of Christ. This bloodline was carried by King Arthur and later by King Alfred. It was King Alfred who 'broke burnt cakes into the river Parrett at the mouth of the Girl Dog (Burrington Burtle), a solar ritual, enabling Alfred (an initiate King) to access the power of the land.

A Huge Unicron overlaid on the Girl Dog has recently been discovered and connects Burrow Bridge with Somerton (Leo) giving us the Royal coat of arms (Unicron & Unicorn).
Practical Ways to Experience Earth Energies

Everyone has a unique and special connection to the Earth and is able to heal her in a conscious way. A beautiful relationship because the healing is mutual. The Earth heals us continually - a walk in the woods calms the stresses of life. Our bodies themselves are born and made of the Earth.

The natural energies of the Earth affect the natural environment and the human energy field. Noticeable effects can be felt at sacred sites, where our ancestors consciously worked with the Earth's energies to support and empower the land. Native Americans call this process "brightening the land".

Begin by "Plugging in to Heaven & Earth". Find a quiet spot and stand with your feet shoulder width apart and hands relaxed by your side. Imagine roots growing down deep, deep to the centre of the Earth. Breathe Earth energy up your roots, and hold. Through your heart and out through the top of your head. Confining upwards, send a cord of light to the heart of the universe. Now bring the light downward from the Chakras, back down to you in your heart. When this has worked you will feel a real sense of peace. You can ground yourself further by imagining yourself as a tree for 5 minutes. Now that you are plugged in, it is time to explore. By asking the landscape angel of the area for guidance and what would help heal the land. Take a walk, guided by intuition and paying attention to your feelings. Many types of Earth energy can be found:

- Energy lines (Ley's), underground water, Grid lines, energy vortexes, and naturally occurring temples, each having different effects on our energy bodies. Rebalancing earth energies in the landscape will help us heal them in less unnatural environments.
- Energy/Ley Lines: Yang Chi energy - positively charged with solar energy, varying in strength and width (typically 6-10 feet wide). Some are aligned to features in the landscape. Spring lines will give a sense of empowerment (expanded auric field). Stress lines may cause agitation or hot feet!
- Water Veins, Aquifers & Rivers: Yin Chi energy - faults and fissures in the rock carrying water under pressure. Many are Yin to 5 parts Yang, Thriving in Yang energies. Some animal and plant species prefer more Yin environments: moles, bats, bees, wolves and hazel trees - their presence indicates underground water nearby. Underground water lines will draw not just feet, feel- ing cool to the feet and 'tired-relaxed'. If you feel hot or not posting, the water is Geopathic.

Geopathic stress is a known cause of sickness. We can do well to recognise aspects of the process and allow ourselves to heal.

The THE BANNER OF PEACE

This symbol is The Banner Of Peace. It represents the joining of art, science and spirituality (the three inner circles) in a vision of culture (the one greater circle). It is a magnetism of peace and represents the one billion world. Visionary artist Nicholas Roerich founded it in 1935 as the emblem of the Roerich Peace Pact, a treaty that has been used as an instrument of conquest and exploitation.

In the past this energy was known in Mongolia as Shambala, a spiraling horn. This energy also known as the mutable 6th Planetary Chakra (or Blue Line) of the body and is the third eye of all people who feel the call and are inspired to cross oceans and land to find their true homes. There is a vibration set up at these places where the 6th chakra is in tune and healing in Britain, was welcomed by the Celtic chieftain Arthur and his cakes. The Sacral Chakra overlays High Ham linked to the Throat Chakra at the monastic and healing town of Bruton, the centre of the Earth. Breathe Earth energy up your roots, and hold. Through your heart and out through the top of your head. Confining upwards, send a cord of light to the heart of the universe. Now bring the light downward from the Chakras, back down to you in your heart. When this has worked you will feel a real sense of peace. Our current calendar is not so much an illogical, for example 'September' which means the medieval worldview. When the days of the week were named after the 7 classical planets, the people who named them believed that nature spirits, landscape angels and elementals - important guardians, healers and guardians of the Earth. Everyone knows of St Andrew and St George, how many of us knew them to be real? Our ancestors grew very close to nature and depended on it for their survival. This relationship opened their interaction with beings of the natural realm, giving rise to many fairy stories. A simple way to feel these beings is to use your imagination out in nature. You may be surprised! Mossy banks, sacred springs and wells, gopuram of old trees, are places where nature spirits can be felt - sharing a lightness and a sense of fun... "Stay light and have fun!"

Empowering the Vision - Illuminating the Anceonic Shift

Knowing that the Anceonic shift is occurring now, we are all empowered to serve this process in remarkable ways that can only be completely revealed in the fullness of time. However, finding ourselves within the unfolding, we can do well to recognise aspects of the process that will enhance our most positive resonance with the spirit of this age. Remember that the brow chakra is also called the Third Eye, the place where our consciousness actually resides within our head and is the place of our intuition and vision. Shiraling streams in the flow of consciousness that can transform our planet to a portal of peace. Yet the world cannot change if you and I do not allow our personal state of being to reflect a planetary state of being that our hearts desire. It is a glorious act for us to individually and consciously embody a planet at peace. ~ Carl Anthony Thorley (More info at www.13moons.org)

The Wessex Landscape Temple

Imagine the chakra centers of the body superimposed across the counties of Somerset & Wiltshire, each holding precious and unique energies like key points of a Celtic Chalice or a Hindu Shiva Lingam. This is the Wessex Landscape Temple. Waves of history have passed across its landscape, (King Arthur, William the Conqueror, Henry VIII, Queen Elizabeth and William Pitt), co-creating the energy system and inevitably influencing with its subtle influences. This temple is a cauldron of our English Consciousness, and like the Glastonbury festival, it broadcast its unique creativity to the whole world.

The Rod Chakra is at Avebury in the Somerset marshes of Alfred and his cakes. The Sacral Chakra overlays High Ham linked to the legendary journey of Joseph of Arimathea to Waverley hill at Glastonbury. But the famous Glastonbury Zodiac is the Solar Plexus Chakra: emotional centre, psychism, gut feelings; honouring Arthur and Christ as universal Solar Heroi Spiritual food and the bread of life: The Festival is on the edge of the Zodiac spanning the 'vertical' to the Heart Chakra at the monastic and healing town of Bruton, the birthplace of King Arthur.

The Aquarian Aeonic Shift & the Hidden Church of the Unicron

From the works of Robert Clow, and others, there has been a growing interest in the planetary Chakra systems. Now that we are approaching a new Age of Awareness and being, this information becomes essential for our own, and Gaia’s evolution.

From the legends of mystical ethnic climates, which disappeared and reappeared, there are not only stories like Shambhala, Tan Ta Ti, or the Great New Earth of the future, there are also stories about the role of the Earth in global weather. These cyclical arrangements remain as symbols of human cultural evolution, symbolized by the Caucasus and also Unicon (the ancient creature, its third eye is a viewing device).

In the year this energy was, strong in Mongolia as Shambhala, a spirit that pales self-incredible beauty and enlightenment. This was the days of organized religion in Tibet, Mongolia (the Age of Tai), which later became Buddhism. At the age of Aries the energy shifted to Iraq and Iran (Gumur), the Inca Peruvian shift it shifted to Jerusalem/Beithlehem, the age of Christ.

At the beginning of each age there is a seeding of the new energy to its new location. This was symbolized by the First Moon at the start of the Piscean age, journeying to Beithlehem to visit Christ. And later pre-seeding at the next Jupiters. This was symbolized by the journey of Joseph of Arimathea to Beithlehem and the planting of his staff on Waverly hill (The next site for the Aquarian age, 2000 years later).

THE 13 MOON PEACE PLAN

The 13 Moon Calendar is a lunar calendar that is recognized as the first truly planetary calendar for humanity. Our current time-keeping standard, the Gregorian calendar, reflects a specific cultural ideology—that of Roman Catholicism—and is essentially stuck in a medieval system. When the days of the week were named after the 7 classical planets, the people who named them believed that the Sun (and all of the other planets) revolved around the Earth, not vice versa. It’s numbering system is inconsistent with different numbers of days in different months that follows no rhyme or reason. The names of the month are also illogical, for example “September” which means the “Seventh Month” is actually the ninth month. This is because two Roman emperors, Julius and Augustus Caesar inserted months into the calendar which are named after themselves.

Our current calendar is not so much an accurate measure of time as an elaborate taxation system that is mixed in dogma and has been used as an instrument of conquest and exploitation. When Pope Gregory, whom the calendar is named after, made his reforms in 1582, the average person knew approximately 30 other people, the world was a village. Now we are a global village of 6 billion and rising. Perhaps its time our calendar caught up! The 13 Moon calendar is based on 13 harmonically aligned months, or “Moons” of 28 days each divides the year into 52 perfect weeks of 5 days each (a “Day Out of Time”) which is celebrated on the 52nd day of July 25th. July 25th 2004 marks the event of the Calendar Change. The forthcoming worldwide announcement by thousands of groups of people that they are abandoning the old calendar and embracing the new time. This will happen at a “Planetary Festival of Peace through Culture” on the Day Out of Time with more than 500 events in over 35 countries. To this day there will be the “Festival Of Peace” in London amongst others. In this land the 13 Moons takes us back to our celtic roots by embracing the same natural harmony as the pre-Roman Druidic calendar. The 13 moon “calendar of this time” or ‘ogham’ whose pattern can also be found in the temple of Stonehenge. The Druid calendar has its Day Out Of Time on Winter Solstice. There is an interesting error to this in the 13 ‘Chakras’ calendar, which is the oldest known continuously kept calendar on the planet, having been kept track of for over 5000 years. It is also a 13 Moon Calendar, but with its Day Out Of Time on what is our Summer Solstice (Winter Solstice in the Southern hemisphere). The 13 Moon Planetary Calendar takes its starting point from the helical rising of the star Sirius which avoids the hemisphere bias of the two ancient calendars and combines them under one harmonic frequency making it the true global calendar. The motto of the 13 Moons is ‘One Time, One People, One Planet’ and is purpose is to reawaken humanity with our planet in a return to ‘Natural time’ by the end of the prophetic Mayan Calendar (or ‘13 Baktun Count’) which finishes on Winter Solstice 2012.

‘Natural time’ is the time which all other species exist on this planet. In fact, we are the only species known whose sense of time is not ruled by a machine: the clock. This deviation from nature has created an acceleration of technological bane, but at: the expense of the biosphere and our own quality of life. The soil is not always seen and used more time apart from our own “time saving” technologies. Birds don’t need watches to tell them when to migrate and Dolphins seem to be able to meet up without the need for diaries and agendas: What have we lost by thinking in this artificial and mechanical way? Perhaps we have lost our fatality, that natural sense of timing that we sometimes flusteringly experience as ‘synchronicity’, the desire that everything is unfolding according to some bigger, greater plan. A sense of perfect timing and being in tune which we can access back when we are in touch with ourselves and our intuition. Perhaps this subtle voice is the voice we need to listen to more often, rather than the one that is always telling us we are ‘late’ or ‘running out of time’. After all, all we have is time, so we might as well make the most of it. Try using the 13 Moon Calendar for a while and see if you feel more in sync. did you know that when the dove descends (enlightenment) we are able to that many of our children are expected. Many are diagnosed with Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD) or Hyperactivity (ADHD) and they are really being prescribed the psycho-stimulant drug Ritalin. A drug that can cause permanent long-term damage. Our children are extremely, inceptive, energetic, incredibly impatient, demanding and overactive. They cannot be left what to do. Ritalin is prescribed. But what helps is the Light Children are diagnosed ADD and ADHD? I was amazed to find Doctors use the same tests they used to use for diagnosing genius. Yes, genius!
